

Session 159: The real creation

Original Question: Who created me?

Summary: This recording is nearly 2 hours long. It summarizes the role of aspects and the discovery of the self in relation to the uncreated force which is defined as god. The creator of this world is not the uncreated force but was allowed to create this world by using the uncreated force. The creator of the world is the same creator of humans. The creator is responsible for what they create. Who created me? When one thinks they have a creator they think of themselves as secondary. This brings to the aspects a feeling of helplessness because what can be created can also be destroyed.

Review:

We will start by summarizing what we understand. If there is a creator what are my expectations toward the creator. The creator has placed me in a state of unknowing in the physical body. So many expectations are placed on me without the full knowledge to deal with that appropriately. How can one have equality with God if one is dependent on the gratitude, whims and charity of a creator. That type of aspective thinking keeps man in bondage. To be free of bondage and to know the self comes from recognizing that the potential of gaining that creative ability is to be directly linked to the uncreated force.

When this happens the idea of the dependency linked with the idea of a creator frees the consciousness.

The consciousness is then equal to the creation that now supports the being. The totality of the physical world is dependent on creations. At this moment your consciousness is dependent on aspective qualities. That part of you that tells you of colors the sense of feeling and knowing that you are in a physical body are these all based on the information provided to you through the aspects. That which creates and brings to your awareness is aspective. The aspects are dependent on the thought energy of consciousness in agreement with man as the creator, to exist. The aspects were created by the mass consciousness of man. There are aspects which were created on the nonphysical plane to have gained enough energy to tap into the uncreated force and become a physical manifestation. These aspects support your thinking. The aspects now have agreements with man. It is dependent on the four elements created by the opposite poles. Such as the total feminine and the masculine, negative and positive. A creator that manifests itself in a total state of consciousness, that is linked with the uncreated force, so gains its recognition. As a direct result of knowing the workings of uncreated force. In its essence and in its functioning. Through that knowledge, has gained the mind to become a creator. It has gained this through focus and attention. It has gained it by recognizing the uncreated force. This is when you, as a creator, have become a sub-energy of the uncreated force by having this direct connection. This is the image of the sun. There are many suns that have the ability to create with that creation. It is easy to assume that one is superior to another but the ability to create is passed on to the sub creations. What is created has the ability of the creator. That is an automatic process.

Whatever is created is linked to the creator. The act of that creative mind gives the ability to the creation. But it is limited because it is scaled down. A pocket of energy can create a smaller pocket of energy, but it is smaller. As each one draws energy from the main pocket, to support many sections within a limited source of creativity would eventually run out of support. It would appear that the lower down on the scale of creativity, being the furthest from the uncreated force would be unaware of the uncreated force. It would have to work through all of the sub creations to recognize the uncreated force in the essence of its being. The uncreated force is the only force of unlimited energy.

Consider the uncreated force as a circle which is not limited. Imagine a consciousness emerging from the uncreated force, which is the father. From the uncreated force a tube of energy comes out which carries a light. The light is a type of mind, a type of knowing. An energy so emanating that it appears as a bright light. You can see that the light has a source. The idea that will emanate from this mind are projections, ideas from the uncreated force. From the uncreated force are other sons. The one you perceive as a bright light. There are other orbs that emanate from the orb that are a sound. You experience sound as one vibration and light as a different vibration. You see light and you hear sound. In certain states of consciousness sound can be perceived as solid. Having the same effect on the consciousness as light. The manifestation of an idea exist as in another state of being within the uncreated force. It exists within the uncreated force as a potential. As this awareness is recognized, there is the tube flowing light from the uncreated force. A ball of energy perceived as light another would be perceived as sound another as various colors. There are various states of vibration, these are not the actual vibrations but we describe them this way for you to understand. You perceive energy through your senses, and this is how you would experience the energies but they are really something else. You are the one who project site and sound on to those vibrations to validate the experience.

The idea to grasp is that energies are expressing themselves in manners other than the five senses. You experience them as vibrations then through aspects you project your known senses on them and they manifest in a limited fashion because of your limitations not theirs. In reverse you do not experience the uncreated force directly because you are looking through the senses that are aspective. So you see only what the aspects allow you to experience through your senses and the aspective ideas. Within the uncreated force is the idea of creation, the idea of sons, the idea of energies working together to create other beings. 33:20 The light vibration maintains and holds its state. It cannot change its state of being. Its state of being is recognition and being attached to the uncreated force is what allows its ability to be. Its ability to be and to create on the Earth plane must appear to be done outside of itself. It must maintain its state of consciousness, as a total knowing of the uncreated force. All of its being is consumed with this state of being. It's being is manifested as pure light, pure knowing. When it creates from the uncreated force and the knowing of the other sons, who are maintaining their separate individual personalities, which are a various rate of vibration but maintain that stability. Then their creative acts their emanations, appears to be outside of itself. If it begins to create within itself, its constructiveness to the uncreated force will lose its knowingness. If you grasp this idea a sub energy will be created.

As the uncreated force no changes the tube protrudes out and there is the pure light of knowing, the uncreated force has not changed. The light that recognizes and knows cannot change. If it begins to change its vibration it will lose its connection to the uncreated force. If it allows a change within itself it will no longer be able to have the complete knowing. So it uses the idea of its existence. It knows it does not have to change. It can maintain and hold its light and also create. But it appears to create outside of itself. So it creates the mind of the light. It will emanate a tube from itself. There are three balls in existence. There is the uncreated force a tube going from the uncreated force and you will see the light. From the light is a tube acting like the uncreated force, maintaining its connection it creates another vibration that comes from its thinking process. By giving to this third energy then there are three points of a triangle. The third energy automatically has the ability to reproduce itself. But it is dependent on its creator which is the light. The light is created by the uncreated force. Again, speaking of the triangle, the uncreated force is the first point on the triangle. The light the son, the god, that which gives life, is the second point is the created world. The created world has the ability to create. This brings about many sub-creations. All that is created automatically has the power to create.

When you give a thought your attention, you create a possibility, you give it life. Your states of being, disease, concepts and aspects, all of this is sub creations. You have the power to create constantly. It is not a matter of if you wish to create your very state of being creates. Within that is the knowledge that the creative act can be channeled. The three points of the triangle link to its creator. No matter how many energy balls that are created a link still exists. There are branches of trillions upon trillions of energy creations on the Earth plane. These energies inter react to create reality. They automatically create and recreate. It appears to be a recreation, but it is a constant new creation. The awareness the recognition the coming to and knowing is when the uncreated force... No matter how far removed down the ladder of creation, any point in creation cannot exist unless it is connected to the uncreated force.

The phrase "taking responsibility" carries with it the tone of retribution. But the uncreated force does not hand out rewards or punishment in the form of compensation Creations from the uncreated force and the son do not have justifications, emotions or any aspective elements. There is no need for any compensation in reference to the uncreated energy.

You have aspects which influence your thinking. They tell you that you must do many things in order to find the light. All you have to do to find the light is to recognize it.

The act of having to work through one's aspects and to work backward through the emotional processes, the mental processes, working back through the symbolism that has been given in finding the light, is something that has been created. As long as the consciousness of the individual is willing to work through that, and does not wish to release the aspective qualities, through fear or whatever matter, there is no interference from the uncreated force. This is because the flow of energy is through agreements or a chain of command. This is why through awakening the consciousness an individual must connect to the uncreated force within themselves. The idea of interference from the uncreated force or a creator. This goes into the savor aspect and sacrifice and all of that aspective thinking. The workings of the energies follow a simple law of the triangle. All of creation would be known within your being through the recognition of the uncreated force being the source of all your physical energies.

For the individual ability to create, there exists agreements. Your body consists of trillions of cells, and one of the agreements is that the body will die. You can say I do not agree to this, but you need to understand why you do not have a choice. Who says you do not have a choice? One then says that is the way it is on the physical plane. There are the contradictions because of the belief structures. Shield their true origin. The physical world is dependent on the light which is dependent on the uncreated force. Dependency evokes a feeling of being inferior. To be dependent is to say something is lacking within oneself. One must do away with the word dependency and obligation. One must do away with very simple words. One word can bring into play other words that bring many other meanings. A word can cause aspects to rise. The aspect through their filtering and concepts such as duality prevent you from truly knowing. The aspects introduce doubt, fear and other thoughts that restrict and limit your thinking. This is the reason to develop the nonverbal skills in the knowing of the void.

The phrase “you are god” is in reference to creating using the triangle. The ability to know, to have a consciousness and a rate of vibration, that is unique and connected directly to the uncreated force. The uncreated force recognized in a state of manifestation has given to you the ability to create. That is the idea of God of being the uncreated force. There were no limitations. As God is perceived today God has become an aspective quality. The idea of God on the Earth plane is an aspective quality. It no longer represents that which it was intended which is the uncreated force. There is an idea in the center of your consciousness, envision within your being the three points of the triangle. The light in the center. As a force allow the light to be. Then go to the nothingness of the void. This is ceasing to be a party to all other creations on the Earth plane. You do this because you choose to do it. You choose to seek other creations. Not because you find any fault within the creation, not because you need to annihilate it. You need to be neutral in your creation. Not pleased or displeased. If you choose you can withdraw that light. But it is there being the first point on the triangle. It is in the essence of your being the uncreated force. Then there will be a you which is the second point of the triangle. You will be then as the light is to the uncreated force. You will gain the link to the uncreated force. There will be within you a rate of vibration that is unique. It will sustain itself because it will never change. There is tube that emanate from it and this allows you to cocreate. To travel other universes and know other states of being, always you will maintain that light and that unique energy vibration. The base of your vibration is the uncreated force, but they are now maintaining through co-creations and co-creations. You perceive all that is in totality on the Earth plane. There are many rates of vibration within the field. When you find that light then comes the recognition of the uncreated force. You will have a unique vibration which is unchanging and a connection to the uncreated force. You will know all other energies and recognize them. You will see them in their link to the uncreated force. Your first act is to recognize the various vibration operating within your physical body. Your aurora, your energy field and recognizing that when you say, “me” there are many energies that are trying to say me. The voices that say to do things this way and that way they are self-creations. Recognizing the self-creations is one of the most illuminating energy changes that can occur within an individual. Then they do not think of these energies as hostile or alien. They recognize it as the idea of creation. Once that idea develops the unification can take place. This results in harmony. A never changing state of harmony. “That which never changes, creates all” In your mind’s eye can you see creation taking place continuously. Creation is taking place all the time. The aspects grasp your consciousness. They speculate your future and substantiate your past. The aspects create an illusion of a gradual creation. The uncreated force is point one. The son is point two. Automatically projects its opposite in the Earth plane. The light being unique is the son of God also projects down. “Know the father through me” was symbolic of the light speaking of the light. The light reproducing is a reflection. It has the ability to create in the same manner but only limited in that it came through the light.

From the poles of opposites, and the duplication of the light we have the four elements. There is the automatic duplication of the opposites. It is impossible to manifest within the created world without the automatic creation of its opposite. Whatsoever you create on the Earth plane the opposite is automatically created. When you agree there is good. Good is an aspective quality, it automatically will bring in what you call bad.

The mental body questions everything it goes back and forth asking and answering only to raise two more questions. You will not find answers with the mental body. It is the nature of the mental bodies to bring forth the answer up pops the opposite. Knowing this will liberate you, because then is when you stand in the middle, and you recognize these ideas and concepts are creations of other entities. 1:21:56 They take on the rates of vibration from those aspective qualities and they literally vibrate within you aurora. They maintain that rate of vibration linked to the collective subconscious. It is full of all manner of ideas. Within those links in the collective subconscious, any aspect that gets your attention automatically has its own space and rate of vibration. When we speak to these voices are they aspects, other entities, are they true or false? You do not know if we (The Friends) are real. The real creation is a state of being and a state of knowing. It does not need to be substantiated by any aspective quality. It does not need to have an aspect inside or an aspect outside to comfort or condemn.

One's comfort comes from knowing that all of it is from the uncreated force.

One can create their own reality, or they can substantiate other realities. If you dislike the way things are now on the Earth plane, stop supporting what you dislike. If one wishes to change the world, then that is an inability to realize a state of being. If you can walk the Earth plane and say you are equal with God, this will cause problems because there is such misunderstanding of what that means. Recognize that the only way that you will truly equal with God means you expect nothing from and God expects nothing from you. What is equal? Is equal sameness? Is equal identical? Are there hidden compensations? Can you be a co-creator? You are currently co-creating because you are allowing creation to happen through you. But you do not believe you have the ability.

The point is to work within your self then the knowing and understanding will develop. As the aspects and words begin to lose their emotional hold, the mental hold, the understanding without judgement, the understanding of creation. As you go through this process, the energy being used by the aspects for their place in your consciousness, no longer is used to support these emotional aspects. Does this mean you have to destroy aspects and get rid of the aspects? There will not be an annihilation. All of your energies that are now sub-creations that function as aspects, that nearly function as their own entities, are supported by the uncreated force. The sub-creation in the collective unconscious which manifest themselves in your energy field, then become creations of your within your energy field. If you do not take conscious control of your energy, then these other aspects will take over your conscious energy and do your thinking for you. When your conscious reaches that level of liberating the aspective qualities within your energy field, and they become aware of their link to the uncreated force, that is when they release their holds on you. That is when understanding begins to come. Understanding happens when all these automatic ideas and resistances leave you energy field. Liberated aspects no longer require your conscious energy, therefore as the energy of the uncreated force flows within you it is not used by the aspects. It remains as uncreated potential within you. This creates a harmony in your energy field. All the way to your cell structures is an awakening of the uncreated force. Your physical body is the result of the emotional and mental body. What becomes the harmonious attitude is when these aspective energies recognize the uncreated force. They see that they can survive by connecting to the uncreated force directly. They do not have to draw their energy from the subcreations. It is possible for these energies to do this at any time.

For example, the male aspect. When the aspect realizes that it is like all the other creations of male it is just a branch of the male aspect. All of the male energy whether it be animal, vegetable or mineral, when they look back to the source and recognize that they in essence of one energy being of the male energy then comes the recognition of the light. The energies can be gathered, and the conscious is no longer fooled by the aspective qualities. One is no longer drawn to the pitiful cries, and the desire to be a hero. Ego is a manifestation of whatever aspect happens to be in charge at the time. There are so many aspects that exist it seems impossible to identify them all. It is possible to group them together. You can start by two main groups such as male or female or positive and negative. No matter how many ways the energy is split they have to go back to two types of energy. Once you start to see this in yourself then you will see it in others. Once you see this and the many disguises and paths the energy follows, then you will understand it is just the two energies. When you are aware of them, they become aware of themselves and will heed the call of the creator. The many aspects within your energies are either positive or negative. As they are recognized they are brought into a unification. Doing this is taking the aspects to their source. All of the female energies, mother, daughter, sister, are all the same energy. All of the opposites come together. How can the opposites come together? All are emanations from the light. Opposites are only reflections of each other. As you take an aspect and follow it backwards it can no longer be disguised. All these potentials are there because they are creations of the light. They will always be there because you cannot destroy them because they are not your creations. There is no using up of the uncreated force. There is only creation.
